MBA@IICMR

Learning Outcome : Through this session, mentees are expected to gain a better understanding of the expectations regarding attendance and academic updates. They will also have an opportunity to reflect on their previous experiences, particularly from the IICMR engagement, and identify ways to apply those learnings in their professional lives. Moreover, by discussing current affairs in the business world, mentees will enhance their knowledge and awareness of industry trends and developments. Additionally, addressing the importance of discipline, particularly in adhering to formal attire, will reinforce professional conduct and etiquette among mentees.

Batch of Students : MBA 1

No of Students : 120

Description

The primary objective of facilitating communication and engagement between mentors and mentees. The session commenced with a review of administrative matters, including the mentees' attendance records and updates on exam forms for SPPU MBA SEM-I. Mentors reminded mentees about the importance of maintaining regular attendance and staying updated on academic requirements.

Furthermore, mentees were reminded of the necessity to provide concrete reasons for any instances of absenteeism during previous Student Development Program (SDP) sessions. Mentors emphasized that if mentees were engaged in employment, they were required to submit their offer letters to justify their absence from SDP sessions.

A significant portion of the session was dedicated to discussing the learnings from the recent engagement with IICMR and how these insights could be applied in the mentees' professional lives. Mentors encouraged mentees to reflect on the practical implications of the knowledge gained and encouraged them to share their perspectives.
